

Developed by:
National Centre for Animal Health,
Serbiyhang
Department of Livestock
Ministry of Agriculture & Forests

What you should do while entering farm?

- Workers and visitors should park their vehicles in designated areas
- Non-essential visitors should not be allowed on the premises
- For large farms, stagger arrival of workers entering the farm
- Discourage the presence of dogs, cats, wild animals and pests
- Ensure appropriate management of waste, faeces and other materials
- Use an all-in-all-out strategy with cleaning and disinfection before restocking
- Provide and wear appropriate Protective Personal Equipment (PPE)

What you should do while in farm?

- Wear new or cleaned and disinfected PPE
- Use foot-bath with clean disinfectant
- Clean and disinfect all spaces using recommended disinfectant
- Maintain farm enclosure to prevent entry of other animals
- Avoid rotating workers among different farms
- Ensure physical distance between farm workers
- Prepare for a possible shortage of the workforce
- Disinfect farm tools before and after use
- Practice basic personal hygiene - hand washing
- Raise awareness among farm workers about how SARS-CoV-2 spreads

What you should do if your animals come in contact with SARS-COV2?

- No domestic animals should be abandoned, rejected or killed without the evidence of animal-to-human and animal-to-animal transmission
- If they have been in contact with infected animals or humans or show clinical signs should be brought to the attention of the relevant animal health authorities